

The movers and shakers for 2005

The evolution of the art market has thrown up some surprising new players, Terry Ingram writes.

VIRGINIA WILSON, Sydney

Art consultant. Her revamp of the Deutsche Bank collection has attracted considerable corporate recognition. She handled the commission, which replaced about 50 pieces with a dozen key works. Deutsche Bank internationally is a major art collector and has ties with the Guggenheim Museum in New York.